

14th Annual Dr. Tom Steele Emergency Care Symposium Friday, May 6, 2016

Dedication

Dr. Tom Steele was an Emergency Medicine Physician whose dedication and compassion in caring for patients served as a standard that we all strive to achieve. His passion for life was equally evident in his love for his family, fishing, and music. There is no better way to honor our colleague than to dedicate this advancement to our specialty in his memory.

This year's symposium again will have a broad range of topics important to all facets of emergency care. Each of our speakers is an expert in their fields who will add to your needed knowledge base. Emergency Services personnel, including pre-hospital, nurses, respiratory therapists, advanced practitioners and physicians will gain valuable information to help define appropriate care and minimize the risk of preventable complications and death.

Physicians: $100.00 All Others: $75.00

Registration fee includes electronic access to syllabus materials, an electronic certificate of attendance, breakfast, lunch and refreshment breaks.
